Bol d'Or ushers in new season

The 2018-2019 season of the FIM EWC will begin on 15 and 16 September at the Bol d'Or on the Paul Ricard circuit in the South of France. The 24-hour race will see 59 teams on the track, with 42 teams from 13 different countries under contract to compete the entire season.

This season gets underway with a marked increase in the number of teams racing every round of the championship: from 33 squads last season to 42 in 2018-2019.

The world championship has also drawn new participating countries. Sweden and Monaco will swell the ranks of endurance racing, while more Eastern European countries are joining the fray.

Importers too are getting more heavily involved. Six factory-backed teams will be at the start, some of them featuring stronger line-ups. F.C.C. TSR Honda France (Freddy Foray, Josh Hook and Mike Di Meglio) will be defending its title and all-new N°1 against Suzuki Endurance Racing Team (Vincent Philippe, Etienne Masson and Gregg Black), Honda Endurance Racing (Sébastien Gimbert, Gregory Leblanc and Erwan Nigon) and YART Yamaha (Broc Parkes, Niccolò Canepa and Marvin Fritz) as well as Team SRC Kawasaki France (Jeremy Guarnoni, David Checa and Randy de Puniet), which is back chasing the world title this season. The latest factory team ERC-BMW Motorrad Endurance (formerly NRT48) marks a stronger showing by the German manufacturer. With a current rider line-up comprising Kenny Foray, Julien da Costa and Mathieu Gines, the team has performed consistently well since debuting in the FIM EWC back in 2013. A few challengers can however be expected to give the factory teams a run for their money, like Bolliger Team Switzerland (Kawasaki), Mercury Racing (BMW) and Webike Tati Team Trickstar (Julien Enjolras, Kevin Denis and Osamu Deguchi). This Franco-Japanese Kawasaki-mounted partnership will race the Bol d'Or in the Superstock class. Sweden Endurance Racing Team's Yamaha-mounted trio (Christoffer Bergman, Jari Tuovinen and Ville Valtonen) will also be worth keeping an eye on.

Yamaha on all fronts

Yamaha is also officially backing a number of other teams, starting with Yamaha Viltai's Pierret Experiences (Florian Alt, Axel Maurin, Alan Techer and Vincent Lonbois) which has just moved up into the EWC class. Team 3ART Moto Team 95 (Alex Plancassagne, Matthieu Lussiana and Morgan Berchet) is also moving up into the EWC category with backing from Yamaha. Following a remarkable 2nd-place finish at last season's Bol d'Or and a 3rd place at the 24 Heures Motos, Penz13 Wepol Racing (Danny Webb, Mathieu Lagrive and Sheridan Morais) has left BMW for Yamaha with the latter's backing in the Formula EWC category. Yamaha is also sponsoring Moto Ain ECS, a tie-up with the technical crew of Ecurie Chrono Sport. The team is aiming to win the 2018-2019 Superstock World Cup with riders Roberto Rolfo, Robin Mulhauser, Julien Pilot and Stefan Hill.

The first official free practice session of the Bol d'Or is scheduled for 9.30am CEST on Thursday 13 September. The 24-hour race will be flagged off at 3pm on Saturday 15 September.

Exciting battle on the cards in Superstock

The battle to conquer the FIM EWC World Cup looks set to be as exciting as the quest for the world title. No fewer than 24 Superstock teams feature in the ranks of the 42 full-season squads in 2018-2019. The new clash begins next week at the Bol d'Or on the Paul Ricard circuit.

Webike Tati Team Trick Star, the new avatar of the 2017-2018 World Cup winner Tati Team Beaujolais Racing, will be front and centre. The French squad managed by Patrick Enjolras tied up this summer with Japanese team Trick Star Racing, which has raced the Suzuka 8 Hours since 2006 and stood on the Bol d'Or podium in 2016. The two Kawasaki-mounted teams have joined forces in a bid to make it into the FIM EWC Top 5. Riders Julien Enjolras, Kevin Denis and Osamu Deguchi have been charged with making that happen. Webike Tati Team Trick Star will be racing the Bol d'Or in the Superstock, but is actively seeking sponsors to move up into Formula EWC at the 24 Heures Motos and beyond.

International competitors gearing up

Junior Team Le Mans Sud Suzuki, last season's World Cup runner-up and winner of the 2014 Superstock Cup, is back racing the entire season with riders Hugo Clère, Alex Sarrabayrouse and Louis Rossi. Another formidable opponent is Moto Ain ECS, the 2017-2018 World Cup's second runner-up. The Moto Ain and Ecurie Chrono Sport combo has garnered Yamaha's backing to clinch the Superstock title, while Yamaha Viltais Pierret Experiences has moved up into Formula EWC. Moto Ain ECS is fielding a rider line-up comprising Roberto Rolfo, Robin Mulhauser, Julien Pilot and Stefan Hill.

Italian squad No Limits Motor Team (Suzuki), the 4th-place World Cup finisher, is now targeting the podium with an all-Italian line-up: Christian Gamarino, Luca Scassa, Michael Mazzina and Cristiano Ascanio. Motors Events, who are making their Superstock comeback, are also expected to be very competitive. The Suzuki #50 has been entrusted to Belgian rider Gregory Fastré, Frenchman Baptiste Guittet and British racer Kev Coghlan, who placed 5th in the 2014 FIM Supersport World Championship. Team 33 Coyote Louit Moto (Kawasaki) is also well-equipped to do battle among the leaders with a line-up of young talent: 22-year-old Enzo Boulom; Kevin Manfredi, 22, Chris Leesch, 23, and 18-year-old Antoine Thouzet.

Another team worth keeping an eye on is Germany's BMW-mounted GERT56 by RS Speedbikes, with a strong rider line-up: Julian Puffe, Stefan Kerschbaumer, Filip Altendorfer and Rico Löwe. French team Atomic Motosport (Suzuki) has tied up with Italian squad Aviobike and will have Guillaume Antiga partnering with brothers Christian and Federico Napoli. Energie Endurance 91 (Kawasaki) has signed up for a 2nd season and is expected to make good progress with riders Noel Roussange, Kevin Lavainne, Léo Meunier and Jérôme Danton.

Kawasaki-mounted Team 18 Sapeurs Pompiers will be racing the full season with the issue of reliability well under control and a Franco-Spanish trio comprising Enrique Ferrer, Robin Camus and Florent Tourne. As for AM Moto Racing Compétition (Kawasaki) and JMA Motos Action Bike (Suzuki), the goal is to consistently score points to put a tough last season behind them.

Twelve new challengers

Twelve new teams are racing the full season, including a Monaco-based squad, a Czech team and a Polish team: LCR Endurance, Team 202, BMRT 3D Maccio Racing, TMC 35, Fast Team Racing, GSM Racing, Team Seigneur Motosport, Pitlane Endurance, Exteria Racing Team, Falcon Racing, Players and Wójcik Racing Team 2, the junior offshoot of EWC squad Wójcik Racing Team.

Bol d'Or 15 & 16 September 2018

The Paul Ricard circuit hosts a variety of car, motorcycle and bicycle races each year on its 167 track configurations ranging from 826 to 5,861 metres.

Created in 1970, this legendary circuit has hosted 14 Formula 1 French Grand Prix races, 22 Bol d'Or motorcycle endurance races and 13 motorcycle Grand Prix world championships. In 1999, the Paul Ricard circuit closed for renovation work to transform it into an innovative new circuit.

The Paul Ricard HTTT (High Tech Test Track), as it is now known, once again hosted an international motorcycle racing championship in 2015 with the return of the Bol d'Or round of the FIM EWC.

The Bol d'Or, which is taking place for the 81st time in 2017, has been held at different circuits over the years. Initially a road race when it was created in 1922, it later moved to various purpose-built circuits - Montlhéry, Le Mans, Paul Ricard and Nevers Magny-Cours - before returning to Castellet and the Paul Ricard circuit in 2015.
